

I gave up my home phone because I would receive sometimes 5 solicitor calls per night! I switched to only using my cell phone. By the time the Do Not Call lists were enacted, I realized it's cheaper to not have a home phone at all. But I don't want companies to call me on my cell either. Not just because I have to pay for my minutes, but because these calls are unnecessary, and I would never purchase from someone who called me.
